

Management of the Learning Environment

CO-TEACH
PLAY # 93

Partners have observed that some students are having difficulty focusing on material projected on the screen. Prior to the next lesson, 2 large scale hard copy versions (one per teacher) of selected instructional materials are created. As partners circulate and monitor, they use these materials to provide students with up close visual support.

ACTION: Modify materials to provide more effective input to students during instruction.

Some coordination and/or advanced planning may be required.

Play # 93

It is important that both partners have a set of materials and use them when interacting with students. This conveys to students that the teaching team considers the adaptation to be valid. Also, if the adaptation is used with all students, no individual student is singled out as needing support.
