

Time Management

CO-TEACH
PLAY # 109

As Partner A leads a PowerPoint presentation and discussion, Partner B, circulates, monitors student engagement, and also assumes the role of timekeeper. Partner B indicates to Partner A when to present the next slide. If a remote device is available, Partner B can use it to advance the PowerPoint presentation while circulating.

ACTION: Determine the pace of instruction .

Some coordination and/or advanced planning required.

Play # 109

The timekeeping role is an effective tool for limiting lengthy discussions that can consume available instructional time and possibly cause students with weaker auditory skills to disengage from instruction. It is also a method of providing both partners with a meaningful way to participate in instruction.
